WHY NONPROFITS?

More than 35 years ago, my new husband looked at me and said, “Let’s move to Oklahoma.” He was an Okie from Muskogee (county that is, via Oktaha). He had received an offer to become a lobbyist for Phillips 66. I was a Hoosier living in Chicago, working for the Tribune in advertising. To say I was a bit nervous to move here is an understatement. I knew it was part of God’s plan for us. It was a leap of faith I will never regret.

When I arrived in Oklahoma, I quickly became very involved in the community. One of the first things I did was join the Junior League and start volunteering. I jumped into board service and made that my “early career.” I love board service. I love it so much, I began attending national BoardSource conferences. I became a board governance trainer. I remember working for a time with the local Red Cross alongside by good friend, Debby Hampton. I was asked to start YLX with Beth Shortt, the retired director of Leadership Oklahoma City.

I made friends—lots of them. I learned how to be a leader and how to serve. For me, it is no question that the nonprofit sector in Oklahoma has absolutely defined both my personal and professional life.

Fast-forward to 2019. I am the President and CEO of the Oklahoma Center for Nonprofits. I’m serving as the vice-chair of the National Council of Nonprofits. I serve on an advisory council representing the charitable sector to the Secretary of Commerce. I chair a sub-council of nonprofit leaders from around the state for the Department of Commerce. I serve on several other boards of directors.

Nonprofits are my “WHY.” It’s why I get up in the morning. It’s why I serve on boards, volunteer and donate. It’s why I choose to lead. Our sector is one of our state’s greatest assets, and Oklahoma’s leaders are seeing that nonprofits are economic drivers, community connectors, people protectors and so much more. We are a powerful voice, and nearly every Oklahoman at some point in our lives is touched by a nonprofit.

This year, we celebrate WHY nonprofits are so vital and WHY so many people consider the Oklahoma Center for Nonprofits the go-to resource, convener and advocate for our amazing charitable sector.
WHY
WHY BELONG?

We believe “Membership Means More.” Remember the days when you belonged to that elite club? Maybe it was the football team, the marching band, the debate squad or a different group where you felt appreciated and accepted as you gathered and shared with like-minded friends and colleagues in high school. Maybe it was a sorority or academic society in college. As adults, we continue to join professional groups and associations.

In Oklahoma, nonprofits can join an elite group of charitable organizations, foundations, philanthropists and civically-minded individuals. That’s the Oklahoma Center for Nonprofits. OKCNP members convene, network, share, learn and advocate together. Membership means more because, when we work together, we achieve a unique synergy to accomplish more than we can alone.

Our members are our lifeblood. Whether a United Way in Enid, a food bank in Durant, a mental health association serving our state, an animal shelter in Oklahoma City or a museum in Weatherford, membership at OKCNP grants nonprofits access to professional development, consulting, discounts on products and services, and so much more.

“As a member, you are part of a vision for a better Oklahoma, a sector of experts and experienced confidantes and friends, and, most of all, you are part of something exciting - a collected voice for nonprofits.”

WHY STANDARDS?
WHY STANDARDS?

Organizations need a north star to guide them on their journey. Our Standards for Excellence® program, an ethics and accountability program from Maryland Nonprofits, provides a set of benchmarks for organizations to ensure they work within the law and, just as importantly, within an ethical framework that increases nonprofit outcomes and transparency.

Since 2007, over 800 organizations have completed the Standards for Excellence® course. Many of them have taken this valuable coursework multiple times. It shows the value of a program that offers the most comprehensive “nuts and bolts” training and resources available to govern and manage a charitable organization.

Today, OKCNP not only offers coursework in Standards for Excellence®, we now help organizations become fully accredited. Accreditation is a game-changer for organizations, as they can show their donors and the public that they adhere to a set of guidelines, ensuring that donations will turn to outcomes through high-quality programming, leadership and governance.

“I absolutely loved being a participant in the Standards for Excellence® class. The ability of your facilitators to distill a LARGE amount of information into something easy to digest, understand, and discuss was a true feat. As an organization we’ve really been trying to apply the concepts [we learned in class] to the way we serve our recipients.”

WHY CREATE LEADERS?
WHY CREATE LEADERS?

Leaders aren’t born. Leaders are developed. OKCNP helps nonprofits through an array of professional development opportunities to nurture and guide emerging and established leaders with skills, knowledge and expertise that increase outcomes and solidify the operations of nonprofits across the state.

Leadership is fundamental for every organization. Whether we help a nonprofit develop board leadership or provide professional development for staff, when your leaders win, Oklahoma’s programs thrive.

OKCNP offers Professional development for board members, executives, managers and just about every employee involved in the operations and management of a nonprofit. By providing training in governance, management, leadership development, fundraising, human resources, finance, nonprofit law, diversity and inclusion, and an array of other specialty topics, OKCNP’s programs help nonprofits remove barriers and reach their full potential to serve clients and impact their communities.

“Having the opportunity to personalize what we learned and process our own journey, while hearing about the journey of others, was empowering and helpful.”

WHY CELEBRATE?
WHY CELEBRATE?

Each year, OKCNP celebrates the work of nonprofits, organizational leaders, philanthropists and community leaders who impact our sector. Why celebrate? Because there is so much good being done in our communities.

The Oklahoma Nonprofit Excellence (ONE) Awards celebrate more than 20 nonprofits each year who exemplify excellence in leadership and programming. Along with an award, each nonprofit receives grants from $5,000 to $10,000. Since its inception, the ONE Awards has given more than $1.7 million to nearly 300 organizations in Oklahoma.

The Visions Awards, a celebration of nonprofit leadership, honors individuals who make incredible impacts in nonprofits and the community. Visions not only honors philanthropists and community leaders, but executives and staff members of nonprofits who are not just tenacious and bold in their work, but innovative and thoughtful as well.

“The Oklahoma Center for Nonprofits honored me with a Visions award this year. Along with a gorgeous kaleidoscope and hearing the accolades from friends and family, Oklahoma Cleats for Kids received a $10,000 grant to continue the work of bringing opportunities and equity for children all over Oklahoma City to engage in competitive sports.”

WHY GIVE?
WHY GIVE?

Supporting OKCNP means you support the entire nonprofit sector. Our donors commit to a charitable sector that can do more, and can do it better. They believe nonprofits thrive because of strong missions, strong boards and strong leaders.

Our staff have, on average, more than sixteen years of experience. This means nonprofits get perspectives from seasoned leaders themselves, people with expertise in governance, fundraising, organizational development, problem-solving, finance, human resources and management. When our donors give, they support programming that is highly professional, offered locally and delivered at a cost affordable to nonprofits.

Most importantly, our donors show commitment to nonprofits of every size, every type, every mission and in any city or town in Oklahoma. When you support OKCNP, you ensure nonprofits receive the professional development, consulting and other services they need to tackle any problem and embrace every opportunity.

“My law firm’s business membership with OKCNP, along with sponsoring the Law & Finance Conference and Members’ Meeting, have been great ways to get involved with the charitable sector. We are big fans of OKCNP’s dedication to excellence and training on best legal and financial practices.”

WHY ADVOCATE?
WHY ADVOCATE?

If you’re not at the table, you’re on the menu, right? OKCNP helps nonprofits earn a seat at the table in two ways.

First, we advocate for the sector on issues around taxation and helping nonprofits remain tax-exempt, preserving advocacy rights for nonprofits, keeping track of trends and data nationally about the economic and social impact of our sector, and encouraging civic engagement and democracy by helping nonprofits with issues such as voter engagement, public education and the upcoming 2020 Census.

The second way we help with advocacy is by providing totally free training and professional development for organizations on how they can better advocate for their missions. By supporting advocacy through training and development, nonprofits are taught to build policy platforms and agendas, build coalitions and deliver messaging at the grassroots level. We also help organizations understand their own lobbying rights and restrictions.

“If they don’t give you a seat at the table, bring in a folding chair.” –Shirley Chisholm
